Elements™

NewHire Elements is a simple, effective recruiting solution designed to jumpstart your hiring. With Elements, you benefit from unparalleled support and consulting from our professionals. We guide you throughout the hiring process, giving you the tools and coaching you need to make a great hire.

Here's what you get with Elements:

One Job Title

Elements allows you to hire as many people as you need for one job title. For example, if you're looking to hire Sales Representatives, you can hire multiple people.

Candidate Application

Candidates apply for your job and submit their resume on the Candidate Landing Page. This page displays your branding, the job ad and your customized screening questions.

NewHire Screening Tools

Screen candidates based on their responses before you look at a single resume! Search, sort, screen and track your candidates in your NewHire database. Candidate screening questions can be customized for any position.

Recruiting Consultation and Implementation

When you choose Elements, you'll be assigned to a recruiting professional who will work with you throughout the hiring process. Recruiting consultations consist of three parts: Discovery, Advertising, and Candidate Screening.

1. Discovery

During this one-hour Position Profile, your NewHire recruiting professional will ask questions designed to fully explore the details of the job and your company culture.

2. Advertising

Our professionals write an attractive, attention-catching job ad for the open position. Our customers report getting significantly better candidate pools when we write the job advertisements.

3. Candidate Screening

Your recruiting professional will write screening questions and review candidates with you, offering guidance to help you make the best hire. You will also learn to use NewHire's powerful candidate screening and tracking tools.

On-Demand Phone Support

We're here to help! Although NewHire is easy-to-use, we realize that you may have questions along the way. Our On-Demand Phone Support provides one-on-one phone assistance to answer your hiring and software questions when you need it.

Candidate Sourcing

Elements includes the Ad Pack. Designed to build a strong candidate pool for the open position, the Ad Pack publishes advertising on today's best performing job sites. Click here for complete details.
